Business Research Global MBA Yangon Batch 7

2 April 2017

18 groups of Global MBA Yangon batch 7 students did presentation on their business research reports. Presenting research results is a vital aspect of graduate work. It is an exciting time in a student's degree program because it represents the culmination of many hours of hard work. Action research projects are naturally proactive endeavors that are designed to promote an accurate understanding and awareness of educational problems. They are solution-oriented investigations that use systematic analysis and data reflection that are essential for encouraging the implementation of instructional changes in classrooms.

Reflections of Student's Life At UTCC International

I attended UTCC Global MBA on weekends, so the student's life is slightly different from that of full-time university, which I used to. Nevertheless, I feel that the school is a good relaxing therapy for me after working 5 days from Monday to Friday.

It is always good to learn from experienced lecturers, and the better thing is that you can meet up with great and like-minded individuals, who are in different career fields. Most of the time, you are learning from each other, and they can give you great advice for your work from Out-Of-The-Box perspectives. Sometimes, it can be tiring since it is 9-5, but lecturers are too captivating and interesting that you don't feel that hours passed by.

For the past two years, I had opportunities to hang out with my MBA friends during the weekend, as well as on the weekdays for the group assignment. One memorable thing is that at one point we stayed together and worked for the assignment until 3am to finish it just on time. We went on several trips together and got closer to each other and our friendship became stronger. We went to Vietnam, Thailand and several local trips.

Overall, I would say it was great two years being part of UTCC International.

Inspirations

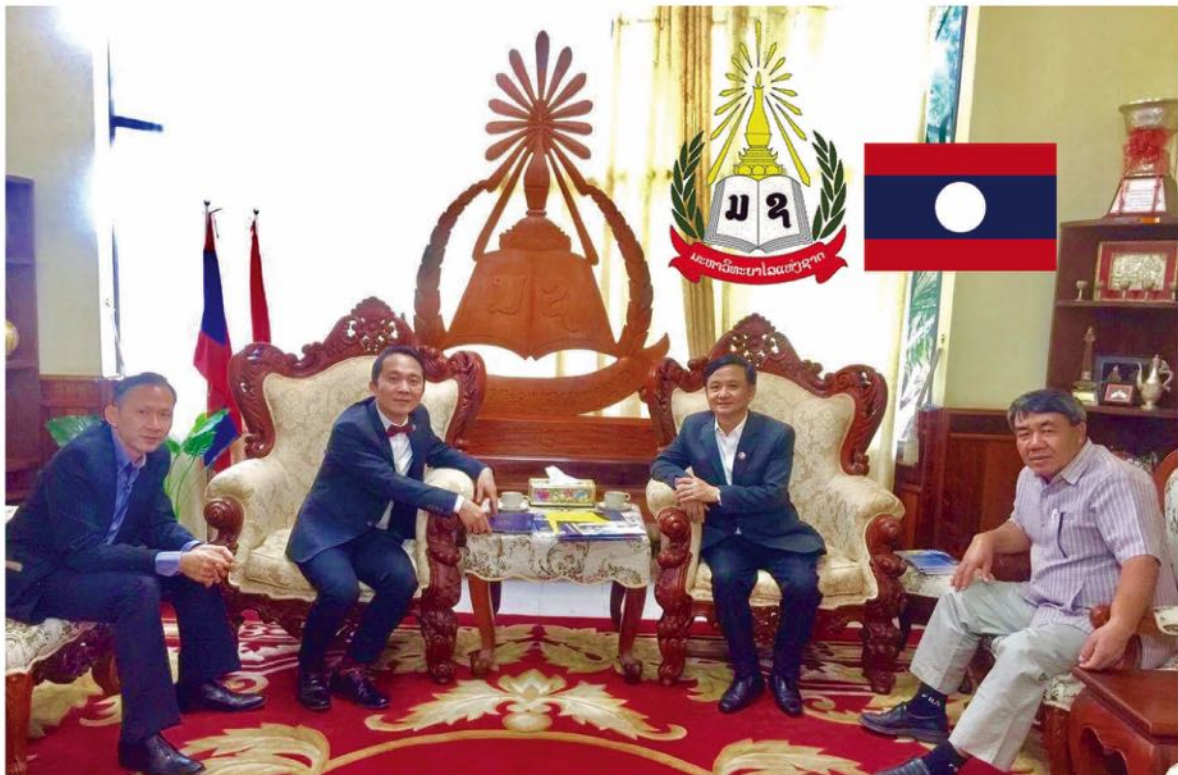

During my first year of MBA, I haven't started my own business yet and was still employed by an employer. I always wanted to start a business, but didn't feel ready, being scared to encounter the failures. The friends I met at the course, like Ko Phyo, Ko Thein, and Ko Min empowered me to be more entrepreneurial to start my own business, as they are running their own successful businesses.

Thanks to them, I was inspired and managed to start my own business. Till now, from time to time, they still give me a lot of valuable advice whenever I meet obstacles. I really appreciate their support.

Feelings on Graduation

Graduation is an exciting time for everyone. You can see the glowing aura of happiness and pride from the faces of parents, friends and the love ones of the graduates. Of course, our Professors were very delighted as well. The university welcomed us with great warm and hospitality. The beautiful and grand decorations which made the atmosphere more vibrant and lively. There were hundreds of graduates both Thai and international students like us.

For me, my mum and my Chemistry Teacher since high school came along to celebrate my graduation day. In our life, there are good and bad days, and the graduation is definitely one of those good days which we will remember to cherish. More importantly, I will miss all of my friends who I share great memories with in the past two years, and hopefully we will be seeing each other from time to time.

Internship Report: Reflection on UTCC International Student Trainee at Synesis Sole Co. Ltd. (Vientiane, Laos)

Where did you work? What was your position?

I interned in the Transportation Department with their Analytics team. Interns at Synesis Sole Co. Ltd. are treated like full-time employees. My daily duties included providing users with full service construction by providing services to an authorized dealer.

What has UTCC International done that has helped you obtain or better prepare yourself for your internship?

Without the support from UTCC International, I honestly do not think I would be where I am at today. With the help of faculty and student advisors, I was able to become more prepared for interview questions and have a more professional resume.

Describe your internship journey.

During my internship experience I found my passion for Customer Logistics and specifically Transportation. Problems arose often, but I enjoy solving problems and the sense of accomplishment I felt when I contributed to a breakthrough for the department and company. I learned a lot about the transportation industry and how vital Customer Logistics is to the functioning of a large corporation. I also expanded my network and continue to keep in contact with the connections I made.

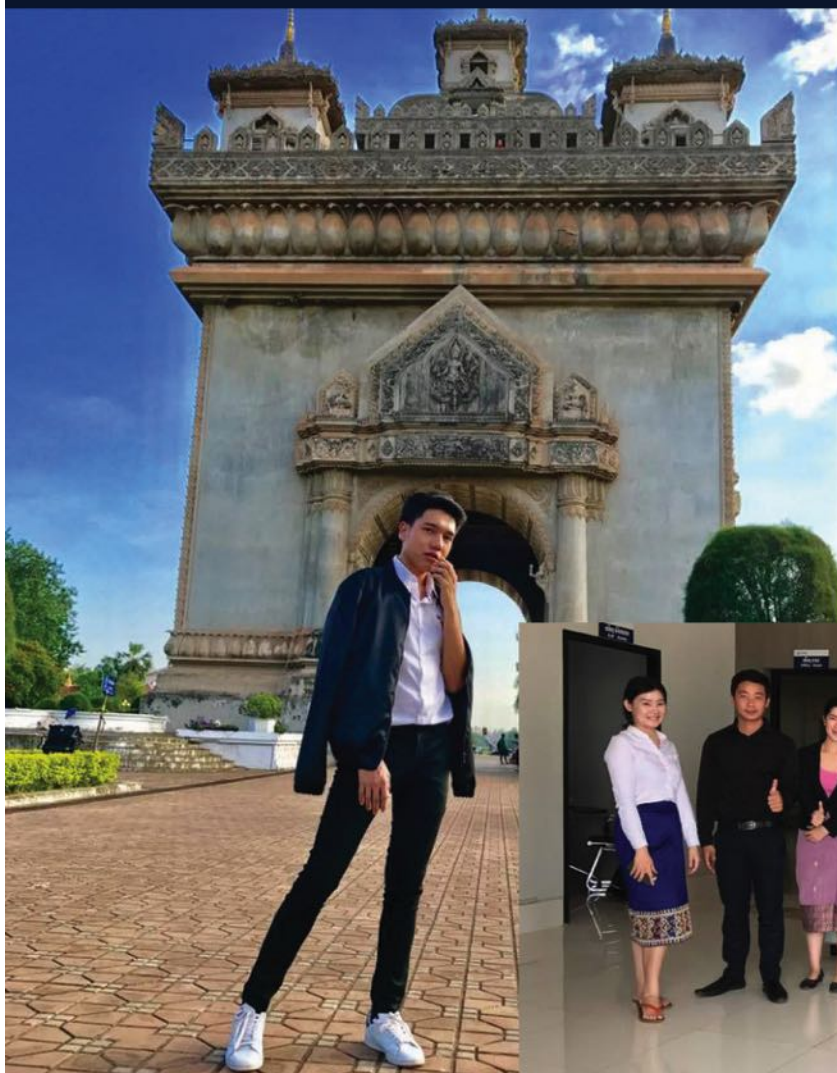

What advice would you give to someone in your field?

As long as you keep your eye on the prize, you will triumph over the challenges you face. As you keep this constant and take pride in your hard-work and dedication, everything positive will come to you.

“My internship has familiarized me with a wide range of marketing strategies. Being an internship abroad contributed new experiences of my life. Seeing and merging myself into the real business world has transformed me as a Global Citizen.”
